

1 ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

2 The present bra includes a horizontal back strap and a pair of cups. Vertical shoulder straps are 3 connected between the tops of cups and back strap. Non-stretchable reinforcing rings are 4 attached to the fronts of cups concentric with nipple areas thereon. The rings have open centers
5 for comfort. Non-stretchable suspension strips are connected between respective rings and 6 shoulder straps. The strips are sized to suspend rings at predetermined positions relative to the 7 top ends of the cups to prevent the forward portions of the cups from sagging under the weight of 8 large breasts. The rings maintain the shapes of the cups to prevent them from flattening the 9 breasts when the shoulder straps are tightened. A second embodiment includes shoulder straps
10 which are movable upward and downward through slide buckles attached to the tops of the cups 11 for adjusting the lifting of the cups.
